The hare promised a horrible hash, with swamps, briars and thunderstorms. So, most people stayed away, but the brave few half-minds that did make it, were welcomed by a lovely evening.

The runners went northwards along the east side of the river, whilst the paddlers put-in under the bridge and paddled behind the runners...

Pubic enjoying the tranquility far from the marshy swamp the runners were in.

At this point Dr WHO ran-aground. The waters were shallow, and the beer(and hare)were heavy...

The beer check was set, just as the pack ran over Middle Bridge, and down the west bank of the river..

At the beer check...

Hey, is that a bird, a sub, no its.....WIPOS!

Wait, he's being sucked downstream. Lets give him a hand!

As Crotch did her best Bo Derek impersonation from "10", or was it "Bolero"?

Beer consumed, time to swim/paddle out again...

The paddlers get back first...

as the swimmers ran over an island...

and the young 'uns ran over the bridge, and some took a dive into the river...

Oozing gives his rating...

As the sun sets on a lovely day...

The ratings were unanimously negative. The hashit went to Just Alex for assisting WIPOS.
The ONIN was at the Willow River Inn. Good IPA on draft.
